the contrary, with all the accompaniments.

We regret not having been able on a recent short visit to Milwauke to call upon the gentlemanly and talet ted Editors of that aristocratic city. We do not think they would have felt very highly honored by a call from so plain and humble a pleteran and we are by no means cert in that this feeling had not its influence. Milwaukee is a splendid young City, of which its i habitants cought to be proud. It has the best hait or on Lake Michigar, the great inland sea of Wisconsin. It is the offilly laid out, and large portions built up in as good or better atyle then we lave seen in the larger cities of twenty stakes. Mily aukee seems to have trad to improve upon all her sis or cities. The handsome brick made in the neighborhood, gives her great advantages in tuilding. We see no reason why Milwaukee is not to become a wealthy city of the first magnitude at no distant day. Improvements calculated to hing about such a result, hince been taken held of and pushed forward by strong hands we hope her course may over the onward and upward.

The Next Lecture. On Tuesday evening next, James Russkil wall is to be here and we anticipate a lecture il it will give more pleasare and more complete a isfection to all who hear him, than any other ture of the whole course-good as some of i .m have been. The lecture selected for us, 18 ne of Mr. Lowett's famous course on Revish wiry ectifled "The Ballada" We have alcidy published several notices, chowing the ding with which the course has been received ir other places, and from a skotch of this lecture. reported in Eastern papers, we are sure that he Ballada" is one that will please and metruct who hear it. While the lecturer confines msoif well to his chosen subject and gives us s history of the nature of the old English Balis, and their effect on the English mard and anners, he allows himself scope for some of his appress hats at the laterary fashions and forbles the present day

Of course, a newspaper sketch of a lecture n do no sort of justice to it has delivered, and esketch, which we have, is so full of good mile, that we are at some loss to select, but to the following, as showing in some little gree, the manner of Mr Lowell's treatment of a subject

The ballads number gharrargue nor describe into only state things in the least complex way, hese old singors caught language fresh and with flavor of the soil in taill, and their hearing tere people of healthy sensibilities, who must be hit directly and hard Accordingly, there is very vigorous handling They speak blunity and to the purpose, If a manded loses her lover, we may also manded.

POLICE COURT -- April 6.

SPORT CLISTON WALWORTH, REQ. POLICE STRTICE

THROWING Subs -A woman named Mary Colins, residing in the Fourth War I was tried for an assault and battery upon Empline Corchorar, on the 5th of April The treable between the woman, was about one of them il rowing the suds on the other on a washing diy-the trouble commencing about pouring dirty w ter under a clothes line full of clothes, and then sweeping under the clothes with a brown One chased the other with a broom, and fail ag to catch her, paget a barrel of rain water for spite. Three witnesses estified to the defendant having thrown pail of scap suds on the complying of, but it was evident she was greatly protoked to the act The Court stated that the three witnesses testifying to the water having been thrown moon the complainant, by the defendant, precluded an acjuited A technical agrault and battery was made out. He must say that the conduct of both parties was far from creditable-he should therefore fine the defendant $5, the lowest the law permitted him to do. The fine and costs amountng to eight dolla s and forty-feur cents was prid by the bushand of the defendant, a laboring man, who stated that it was hard to pay so much for such a trifling matter, and every person of ordinary sense, all but the sham den octains members of this city, must think as he did. A law was got up, ready for the legislaters from this city to pass, its sole object being to remedy such cases as these, but it received scarcely a notice at their hands, and yet all of them ag co that it was a desirable law, and much needed and one calculated to mete out justice between man and manbetween the state and the defendant. Here was a case of assumit and battery, but just made out, and had the Justice the discretionary power he we lid have fined the defendant one dollar, which egether with the costs, would have made four lollars and forty-four cents, an ple punishment

On Tuesday evening next, James Russkii well is to be here and we anticipate a lecture that will give more pleasure and more complete sa isfaction to all who hear him, than any other le ture of the whole course-good as some o ti .m have been. The lecture selected for us. 19 ore of Mr. Lowett's famous course on British Finity entitled "The Ballade" We have al. as these, but it received scarcely a notice at their cady published several notices, showing the fe sling with which the course has been received r other places, and from a sketch of this lecture. reported in Eastern papers, we are sure that he Bellade" is one that will please and instruct t who hear it. While the lecturer confines msolf well to his chosen subject and gives us s history of the nature of the old English Balis, and their effect on the English mird and anners, he allows himself scope for some of his appress hits at the literary fashions and foibles the present day

Of course, a newspaper sketch of a lecture n do no sort of justice to at ha delivered, and esketch, which we have, is so full of good oinls, that we are at some loss to select, but g to the following, as showing in some little. gree, the manner of Mr. Lowell's treatment of a subject

The ballads neather gharrargue nor describe at only state things in the least complex way, has old singure caught language fresh and with a flavor of the soil in statill, and their hearing are people of healthy sensibilities, who must be hit directly and hard. Accordingly, there is very vigorous handling. They speak blundly and to the purpose, If a manded loses her lover, to more the

Turns her face unto the wall, And il ere her beartit breaks

A modern poet would have hardly thrown A modern poet would have hardly thrown way the opportunity offered him of describing the chamber and its firmiture he would put a lanted window into it—for the inkstand will apply them quite as cheaply as plain glass. He ould tell you all about the tapeatry, which the yes of the dying maiden in her extreme aging would have been very likely of course to have seen minutely interested in. He would have liven a chintent lecture on the symptoms, and a cet mortem examination. It was so lucky for nesse old ballad-mongers that they had not any leas!

He has some very good things on Newspaper which we have foom only for this It is worth thinking of whether the pres the work of habit of citing a ine institution be not weaken ag the abre and damaging he sincerity of our happen and or thinking, unters fast as it diffuses intelligence

Another evil of this state of things is the writer Another evil of this state of things is the writing of milk and watering of our English. Writing to which there is so higher compelling description than the coming of the printer's devil must not in this atlast. The pringraph at more make it pargraph and the longer he makes it, the letter for him and the worse for us. The virtue f words becomes wholly a matter of length—recordingly we have no longer any fires, but desastrous configurations." not dry dies but decimes" or demises," men do not fall from ouses but are prepriate of from mainters or diffice, a convict is not harged but suffers the attemporary of the offended law, do.

MARINE INTELLIBENCE THE HARBOR-WATER OF THE BIR-We were yesto. day shown a chart of our river and harbor, between th piors, prepared by the Marine Inspector of the Commer-cial Invarence Co, which shows a much more favorable state of things than was anticipued. The woundings were taken day before yesterday. They show that the lowest water on the bar outside of the piers is 11 feet, while between that and the end of the Rorth pier tha bannel has a depth of 12, 13 and 44 feet. The sand has washed through the North pior and formed a bar along the inside, so that results coming in should give that plor a berth of 60 feet. A bar of limited extent, has been ormed across the ol annel at a distance of about 40 fee from the outer end of the South pier, and on this there's, but $1/2 feet water. Two or three days work with the deedge will give sufficient depth here. The channel of the river from toe piers up to town is the same as 'set year Notice to Mariners.
